When a veteran superintendent wanted to change the data narrative for his school district, LEADright supported the implementation of a reframed and transformed data disaggregation and usage environment and experience. Our Chief Learning Officer facilitated an ongoing series for District-Level and School-Based Leaders to equip them with the essential tools and resources for gathering and communicating stories about student and school performance data, humanizing student achievement data, and encouraging collaboration and innovation among educators to improve the educational outcomes of students.

When a superintendent wanted to establish North Carolina's first early college high school, that superintendent selected our Chief Learning Officer as the founding principal. The school he launched has since been successfully replicated across that state and beyond. It is among the top performing schools in the nation.

We help our clients as leaders by transforming and reframing learning and leading.

When a new principal wanted to drive home the importance of observing, coaching, and developing teachers, our team observed teaching and learning, facilitated coaching conferences, designed an online observation tool, and taught teachers about a growth mindset. Now the teachers conduct peer observations and debriefings throughout the month using a process they learned in one of our sessions and an observation tool LEADright developed. Their school is among the top performing high schools in the nation.

When a principal wanted to get more out of her department chairs, our Chief Learning Officer developed and facilitated a six-session professional learning series about the transformed and reframed role of the department chair as instructional leader. This shift resulted in mutual accountability, distributive leadership, and increased student achievement.

Clients choose LEADright when they wish to improve the performance, sense of purpose, and potential of the students they serve.

DR. TONY LAMAIR BURKS II

Chief Learning Officer

Dr. Burks is an award-winning educator who has served schools and districts in roles from Magnet Director to School Transformation Coach, from Principal Mentor to Executive Director of Small School Innovation, and from School Improvement Officer to Area Superintendent.

He was the founding principal of The Early College at Guilford, North Carolina's first early college high school and one of the first such schools of its type in the world.

Dr. Burks served the National Center for Urban School Transformation as its Superintendent-in-Residence. He has helped districts and their partners transform schools into places where students achieve academic proficiency, love learning, and graduate well prepared to succeed.

Dr. Burks earned a BA in Philosophy with Honors, an MEd in Educational Leadership, and a doctorate in Educational Leadership. He is among five educators featured in Walking the Equity Talk: A Guide for Culturally Courageous Leadership in School Communities by John Robert Browne II.

Dr. Burks is the author of three books and a contributor to two. His newest book, Bought Wisdom: Tales of Living and Learning, is an interactive leadership memoir that invites you to tell your own stories.

As the Chief Learning Officer of LEADright and a K-12 Education Expert, Dr. Burks' ideas and insights center around thinking differently; taking different actions, and having different breakthrough results. His career is defined by his culturally courageous leadership in support of today's learners as leaders and innovators.

04 Testimonials

Tony Lamair Burks II is a passionate educator and a strong advocate for students. He is an impressive role model for lifelong learning and self improvement with high achievement aspirations.

LIBIA GIL, PH.D., Chief Education Officer, Illinois State Board of Education and former assistant deputy secretary and director, Office for English Language Acquisition, United States Department of Education*

I have found him to be an authentic caretaker, passionate advocate, and keenly intellectual educator who balances both theory and practice in such a way as to provide an achievable but forward-thinking and provocative vision.

DARIAN C. JONES, PH.D., K-12 education expert and founder and chief academic officer, Sankore' Prep*

I really enjoyed the experience with the LEADright team and learned many valuable things that are helping me to look at my observations differently. Very personable and professional. I learned a protocol for data meetings and 6 characteristics of high performing schools. I was surprised that a snapshot observation could reveal so much information.

CLASSROOM TEACHER, Grandview Elementary School, Dothan City Schools

I wished I'd met [Dr. Burks] 20 years ago, I'd be a different teacher based on what I've learned from three sessions with [him].

36-YEAR VETERAN TEACHER, Illinois

I had the distinct pleasure of working with Dr. Burks while he was the Director of Magnet and Choice Schools at Guilford County Schools. Dr. Burks' leadership and vision played a major role in establishing Guilford County Schools as one of the most innovative districts in the country.

CECILIA ADAMS, artist and writer

[Dr. Burks] is one of the young geniuses engaged in the noble work of transforming K-12 Education and is a leader who knows the value of “learning without limits”.
